

RUTLAND MORRIS PRESS RELEASE

Press Release begins

Rutland Morris leave Rutland on their Annual Day of Dance!

Rutland Morris will break with tradition by dancing out of Rutland on their Annual Day Of Dance on Saturday 1 October, although they will start and finish in their beloved home county.

They will commence in Oakham Gaol Street at 10.00am, moving to the Wheatsheaf/Parish Church by 10.20, leaving for places new at 10.45. They will then dance at the 'Griffin Inn' at Irnham at 11.30, the 'Royal Oak' at Swayfield at about 12.30 and then dance and lunch at the 'Woodhouse Arms' in Corby Glen at approx. 1.20.

3.00pm sees them arrive to dance at the 'Willoughby Arms', followed up by dancing at the Millstone at Barnack at 4.15. Then it's back to Rutland to the Market Place in Uppingham to dance at about 5.45 if they have any energy left!

Their press attache Dave Casewell said "it would be great to have some audience at all our stops ... we generally are lucky in this respect and it does encourage the dancing, and of course helps our collections along, a portion of which this year will be going to the newly established Dove Cottage Rutland hospice near Ridlington".

All details of this tour and other information about the club and future activity can be found on their excellent website: www.morrismen.org.uk
